

JAPAN TO ACCEPT HUGHES'S RATIO

Diplomats in Delegation Overrule Naval Experts—Will Announce That Nation's Safety Is Not Assured But Sacrifice Is Made in Interest of Amity.

(Copyright 1921, by International News Service.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Japan will accept completely the Hughes 5-5-3 ratio of capital ships, the International News Service was informed today on the highest authority.

This "break" in the official Japanese attitude represents a sweeping victory of its diplomatists over the powerful, militarist party.

Japan's decision was revealed by a high official of the Japanese delegation, whose authority is unquestioned.

The diplomatic group is winning its demand for acceptance of the Hughes proposals, he declared, by impressing upon the opposition group the fact that Japan alone would have to bear the blame for another frightful world war if she rejected the Washington conference.

Acceptance of the American proposals will be made as a "Japanese sacrifice" to world peace, he stated. The delegation, however, will formally reject the Hughes plan as "endangering the national safety of Japan." This official rejection, based on the report of the Nipponese naval experts will be followed by a voluntary acceptance motivated entirely by humanitarian principles, he said.

"The future peace of the world hangs breathless on the decision that Japan is about to make with regard to the American proposals for the limitation of navies," the official said, and continued "Japan knows this. Japan knows that it is for her to say whether the years ahead shall witness a frightful armament race ending in most frightful warfare, or whether the years that lie before shall be dedicated to the promotion of international amity and the common striving for what is best for all. Japan knows this and will act accordingly."

"The proposal of Mr. Hughes for the scrapping of the great navies would become but a scrap of paper," the official said, "if Japan insisted that a ratio different from the one that America has made must prevail. If Japan insists upon its insistence, it is to no avail, then the idea of disarmament will collapse and with it, Japan will have to bear the blame that the world will heap upon it for having obstructed the way to world peace."

"But, if the experts of Japan," he continued, "highly versed as they are in naval technology, and after long and cautious study, decide that the ratio provided in the American proposals is unfair and unreasonable, and inconsistent with the needs of the national defense of Japan, then it is not for the delegates of Japan to say that this is not so. If the experts so declare themselves, then the delegates will so declare themselves. The world must know the decision of the naval experts of Japan. The world must know that Japan is being asked to sacrifice."

"When the decision of the naval experts has been made known to all and the delegates of Japan have acted accordingly in so advising the powers attending the conference, there then results a greater question. Shall Japan pronounce itself willing to sacrifice itself by endangering its national safety in order to make peace possible?"

"This takes us clear from the technical issues involved in naval disarmament and carries us back to the principle of disarmament. And I will say that as regards this principle, the views of the United States as expressed by the secretary of state, are the views also of Japan."

The speaker frankly set forth that Japan considers seventy per cent a necessary ratio for her defense but that to refuse to accept the sixty per cent ratio would be to flout with national disaster and to win universal opprobrium. That Japan has no other recourse than to accept the Hughes proposals as they stand, was the declaration of the official, but it was with equal forcefulness that he insisted that Japan can make capital out of sacrifice—capital that is of a moral calibre, which, the official intimated, he thought would redound favorably to Japan at a future date.

As the naval limitation issue now stands, the official explained, the Japanese naval experts have argued strenuously in the effort to secure recognition for their claims from the American naval experts, but without avail. They have closed their eyes to the fact that the naval experts of the other powers and have submitted their report for a seventy per cent ratio to the Japanese delegation.

LOWER GAS RATE AGAIN ASKED FOR

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company on Thursday announced that application had been made for a new gas rate which will give a material reduction to all consumers in the city of Newburgh and which they have asked to be made effective at the earliest possible moment. The new rate is $1.50 per 1,000 cubic feet instead of the $1.90 as at present.

Announcement was made Thursday by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company of a proposed change in gas rates in Poughkeepsie.

The company has filed notification of the new rates with the Public Service Commission. This must be done 30 days before they go into effect so that it will be about January 1 when they will be in force if permission is given.

A rate of 50 cents for the first 100 cubic feet of gas is established in the new schedule and a reduction of 40 cents per thousand feet in succeeding blocks from the present rate of $1.90. This makes the total cost for the first 1,000 feet $1.85.

The hotel Bristol was penetrated by wreckers who rushed to the fourth floor where American and English guests had taken refuge. Most of the Americans had locked themselves in the apartments of Sir William Goore, an English commissioner. ## ARGUE BOYSON MOTION IN ALBANY

Albany High School Coach Fears He Can't Get Fair Trial Here—Has Anonymous Letter Suggesting Way Out.

The arguments on the motion of Hugh J. Reilly to have the case of Walter L. Boyson, Albany football coach, considered by the grand jury and not tried in police court here came up before Justice Hinman at Albany today. The case was set down for a jury trial here Monday evening, but an adjournment was taken pending the outcome of the motion.

Boyson's side of the story as told to an Albany newspaper reporter was to the effect that "poor sportsmanship had been shown on the part of Kingston fans." He claims that he was standing on the side lines and saw a Kingston player trip an Albany player. "I did not leave the side lines," said Boyson, "but attempted to gain permission from the referee to ask about the tripping. I was at all times acting within my rights as a coach."

"A Kingston policeman then went up to me and told me to get out of here! A third person told the policeman to have that fellow thrown out," asserts Boyson. "Then a plainclothesman grabbed me while others, including the policeman and Kingston fans attacked me."

Boyson claims that on November 16, following the second adjournment of the case here that he received an anonymous letter signed "A Friend." The letter advised Boyson to avoid publicity and to come quietly with his attorney to the city court and plead guilty, and assured Boyson that if the matter was kept quiet he would be given a small fine, about $10, and the matter dropped. This letter is held by Boyson's attorney.

If Boyson is held by the Ulster county grand jury his attorney will move to have the place of trial changed to "insure a fair trial." The Albany paper says that Boyson is determined if acquitted to bring a civil action against persons taking part in his arrest for false imprisonment and malicious persecution.

Boyson was arrested by Officer Martin. The officer in plain clothes he refers to is Officer Kueha.

BRITAIN CAUTIOUS OVER SHANTUNG

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Realizing that an affront to either Japan or China, might lead to complications which would endanger Great Britain's position in the Far East, members of the British delegation in their efforts to assist in the settlement of the Shantung controversy will assume an attitude of strict impartiality it was learned today.

Although Great Britain was expected to side with Japan on the question of the control or ownership of Shantung, because of the alliance which binds these two powers, it has now developed that England is not in a position to risk offending China, by such a course, because of embarrassing questions which may be brought forward by the Peking delegates in relation to Tibet. The control of this vast undeveloped territory, as been a sore point between the Chinese and British for many years. In some quarters the suggestion is made that Great Britain's relations to Tibet are, in some respects similar to those of Japan to Shantung.

On the other hand, it is pointed out that the Anglo-Japanese alliance will serve to prevent the British delegates from lining up squarely with China in the Shantung controversy, because Great Britain cannot afford to incur the displeasure of Japan. Mr. Balfour however, backed by his government, is expected to make every effort to bring China and Japan to an amicable agreement without embroiling the British Empire in the quarrel.

OPERA STAR IN IMMIGRATION NET

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 2.—Mme. Tamaki Miura, Japanese girl, famous as "Madame Butterfly" of the Chicago Opera Company, is being detained on the liner Vasari today because immigration officials have not been apprised of the correct monthly quota of immigrants from Japan. Mme. Miura intended to leave for Chicago this afternoon to prepare for her reappearance in operatic roles.

The ruling under which the Japanese star is detained is a technical one. Although the liner wireless several days ago that several prominent Japanese were aboard, the Ellis Island authorities had no word from the immigration department. Other Japanese on the liner also were detained. When a nation's immigration quota is filled stay of further nationals admitted to America is limited to six months.

Mme. Miura left the United States in February 1920, and has been entirely around the world since.

COMBINES RUN COAST OIL FIELD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 2.—Competition in the Pacific oil fields has been strangled by the Standard Oil Company (California), according to a report submitted to the senate today by the Federal Trade Commission, after an inquiry into west coast conditions.

The Standard Oil Company, said the report, dominates the Pacific coast "apparently from an interlocking stock ownership resting largely in the hands of a few great capitalists, and from its great financial resources and credit." The commission also charged that the independent oil companies were in an association which "fixed prices, but followed the price which the Standard Oil named."

The report showed that the Royal Dutch-Shell combination acquired control of the Union Oil Company of California, while the Standard Oil Company, which in turn controls the Associated Oil Company.

SCENT MURDER AT JEFFERSONVILLE

Pools of Blood, Human Tooth and Hair Found On Lonely Road—Man Seen To Act Suspiciously.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Monticello, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Discovery today of two pools of blood, a human tooth, and several strands of long blonde hair on a lonely road near the village of Jeffersonville, has aroused the entire country-side hereabouts and started an investigation by the sheriff and district attorney of what is believed to be a murder mystery.

Fred and Theodore Koenig, farmers living near Jeffersonville, reported that last night while standing in their barn a man suddenly appeared. When he saw them, he according to the Koenigs, immediately turned and ran for the road. They say they saw him jump into an automobile which sped off. A few moments later they said they heard shots in the direction of the road which was the scene of the notorious Jack Allen murder several years ago, and where the blood, the tooth and hair were found today.

It was announced at the office of the district attorney that a thorough investigation would be made and search conducted on the theory that a woman was murdered and her body dragged to some secluded spot.

Aristotle in Error.

Before anything was known about the laws of gravitation, it was commonly believed, on the authority of Aristotle, that every body had a "natural" place, and that its normal state was one of rest in that place. Thus a stone was supposed to sink in water because its natural place was at the bottom of the water.

CHILDREN'S FOOTWEAR

The most important point in buying children's footwear is whether they fit the youngsters' feet in a manner which will allow the muscles to develop properly, for a great many cases of foot trouble in grown people have been traced to improper fitting while the feet were growing.

Next comes the wear of the shoes and in most cases the better grades give cheaper service in the long run than poorer grades.

Combined with these two points in order that a child's shoe should be right it must have a neat pleasing appearance.

Our children's shoes are fitted properly, made of the best materials and are made on the latest approved lasts in vogue this season.

Original Weights and Measures. Weights were originally taken from grains of wheat. The Jews carried weights and measures to China, the Egyptians to India and the Greeks to Persia. An interesting series of copper weights (now in the British museum), admirably modeled in the form of discs, 16 in number, and diminishing in regular graduation from one foot to one inch in length, was discovered by Sir Austen Henry Layard the noted English archaeologist, in the northwest palace at Nimrod (pointed out by tradition as the site of Nimrod).

PANELS ADD GRACEFUL LINES

Trimming for Coats, Frocks and Suits Important Feature of the Season's Modes.

Loose, floating panels trim coats, frocks and suits this season. Often they extend from shoulders to hem, again they may be attached at the yoke line, the waist line, the hip line—but panels there must be.

Never before were frocks and coats more artistically loose and graceful of line than those introduced this fall. When the frock or wrap is made in blouse effect the blouse in many instances covers the belt or girdle, says the Brooklyn Eagle. And when the belted garment is not intended to belted there is little indication of beltedness at the waist line as the belt is no more than a trimming line and the frock thus continues from shoulder to hem in a long straight line.

The new coats are beautiful, both as to material and style—duvetyns and velours continue as the favored materials and the majority show elaborate trimmings. Embroidery also embellishes a few of the smart dressy coats.

An example is a stunning new model of dark-blue velours. Large medallions of soft old blue, red and copper metal thread were embroidered on the lower part of the coat and bands of the same embroidery trimmed the wide sleeves at the lower part and also the coat collar. The garment, unbelted and rather slim in effect, fell in long straight lines from shoulder to hem. The sleeves were inset with a long shoulder line and the wrap was faced with coffee-colored crepe de chine.

Many of the 1921 coats are fashioned with cape at the back or over the shoulders.

Material, which extended to the hem of the wrap. At the lower part of the coat sides rows of buttons were placed, to which the long full cape could be fastened if desired. There was a high collar of beaver.

ENLISTS LINES OF BOX COAT

Great Coat for Sport Wear Eliminates Belt Through Skillful Shaping at Shoulder.

Whereas only the exclusive manufacturer included the sports suit with trousers in his collection, the universal adoption of the mode has fostered a general impulsion by all manufacturers to have at least one model of this type for this fall. These suits vary little in style from season to season, they, too, finding their principal chance of newness in expression at the hands of the fabric.

The general run of great coats for sports wear has enlisted the lines of the straight box coat, so often seen in French-made models, but less frequently adopted by American manufacturers. This coat, in the original, eliminates belts, a certain skillfulness in shaping at the shoulder making this possible; many of the coats are shown in this fashion, but meeting the popular demand, generally have a belt for those who wish it.

Wonderful fabrics, in stunning weaves from Great Britain, including wool fleeces, tweeds and cashmere cloths, are used to make these coats. Gray mixtures appear in good standing.

Collars of both suits and coats show a tendency to standing lines. Some of them are erect, in an exalted slicker collar style, while others are resolved into throw scarf affairs.

Novelties in Hat Trimmings.

On some of the fuchsia velvet hats, a red which is almost an American beauty shade is used for the trimming. Scarlet trimmings are used on the black and navy blue hats to good effect. There are especially smart

Whole hats are made of metallic ribbons, and fur will be combined with it for mid-winter wear.

A Nose for Trade.

An Auburn (Mo.) merchant named Myers decided to quit business and offered to sell his stock to a born trader of the neighborhood named Merriweather at what it involved $1,000. "I won't take it at that," said Merriweather. "I'll give you 25 cents for every article and package in the store." Myers thought of his big line of plate and lead pencils worth a cent apiece and agreed. Two men were hired to help check up. Slate pencils, clothespins, packages of chewing gum and papers of pins were listed at 25 cents each, so were automobile tires, barrels of sugar and coffee. An egg was worth as much as a 50-yard bolt of cotton. The result was that Merriweather bought the stock for $1,950.25, or just $35.75 less than it invoiced. —Capper's Weekly

NOW THE "DIRIGIBLE" BOMB

Steered by Wireless, Its Possibilities for Deadly Work Are Almost Beyond Calculation.

A "dirigible bomb," that can be steered toward the target by wireless after being let fall from an airplane, is the novel invention of Elmer A. Sperry of Brooklyn.

Ordinarily, when bombs are dropped from aircraft, the chances of a miss are great. The speed and altitude of the plane, or balloon, have to be taken into account, and the wind also. Obviously it would be of utmost advantage if the path of descent of the gravity projectile could be changed at will while it was falling.

The Sperry dirigible bomb carries a parachute, which, unfolding as it starts to drop, not only slows the rate of its descent, but incidentally serves as a "drag-rudder." By tilting this drag-rudder in one direction or another the bomb's path of descent is controlled. As the projectile starts to fall, a second and very tiny parachute is liberated from the top of the bomb to support vertically a wire that serves the purpose of an antenna. It is by the help of this antenna that the man in the airplane is enabled to operate the radio apparatus carried in his machine as to alter at will the angle of the drag-rudder.

While the bomb is going down he circles about and steers it by radio. All he has to do to make the bomb turn this way or that is to turn a handle connected with his radio sender by the desired direction. Thus the bomb is made to land exactly where it will do the most good—meaning, of course, the most mischief.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

"Lines on a Skeleton."

The manuscript of the poem "Lines on a Skeleton" was found near a skeleton in the London Royal College of Surgeons about 1820. The author was never found, although a reward of 50 guineas was offered for his discovery.

SHIP ON THE PACIFIC

Fights for Life When Caught in a Regular Cyclone of Insects.

A stiff breeze from the vicinity of the straits, 180 miles away, brought a cloud of mosquitoes as to overwhelm the crew and passengers of the ship. The ship, while on route to the Strait of Juan de Fuca, had the whirling motion of a cyclone, evidently picked up millions of insects from bags and carried them toward the ship. The mosquitoes covered everything. The pilot house was so thick with the crawling insects as to make seeing impossible. The inside became a living mass of flying mosquitoes, driving out the light. The captain lighted a gas lamp and smothered out the pests. All passengers were driven inside the cabin and fought for their breath. For ten minutes the storm continued its efforts and results were Spokane and continue to drive the mosquitoes on the ship. They were scattered over the deck in drifts and myriads of them were blown into the funnels of the ventilators so that the crew below had a taste of the pest.

A black bear, tied forward, so suffered from the cruel attacks of the chilled and hungry insects that he leaped overboard and was hanged to death by his collar and chain. As soon as the wind subsided the insects quit coming and the hose was turned on to wash the decks clear of the dead and dying. Captain Wallaby brought a pickle bottle filled with the mosquitoes to port. He scooped them up with a spoon from his compass and sent them to the pilot house.

WILL COMMAND MAJESTIC, WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP

The distinction of commanding the world's largest ship, the 56,000-ton Majestic, now nearing completion, to be between New York and Southampton, has been conferred on Sir Bertram Hayes, at present commander of the Olympic. Both ships are owned by an American concern, the International Mercantile Marine company. The Majestic was built by the Germans, to lead the merchant fleets of the world, and while still unfinished was turned over by them to the republican commission, under the Versailles treaty. She is 936 feet long, and her interior space is equal to that of 40 eight-room suburban houses. Sir Bertram Hayes is a native of Birkenhead, is fifty-seven years old, and a bachelor. He has many friends in the United States.

FORTUNE IN BEES

Thousands of Wandering Swarm Bring Farmer Money.

G. E. Blouquette, a farmer at St. John, Man., was tinkering in his woodshed when a swarm of bees settled on a cottonwood tree in his yard. This was six years ago. From what he heard the bees had no honey. But he had been surprised a hive out of a tree box and made the bees at home. The swarm from nowhere prospered. Blouquette now has seventy-six colonies that are the descendants of the small swarms of six years ago. Last year he sold two tons of honey at 30 cents a pound for a total of $1,000. "Pardon," said Blouquette, "how do you see my front yard fence?"

Waves Civil War Officer Paid. A claim for $20,000 has been made against the city of West Point by Thomas Dwyer, a rural mail carrier of West Point, N.Y. Dwyer collected at West Point during the Civil war at a store owned by a family of 2000 men being off to the volunteers. He was paid for being present the balance within three years. His original bill of $20,000 was the interest at six per cent for 20 years, now amounts to $20,000.

Lost Diamond Found in Arkansas. A diamond weighing 20.25 carats in weight, and estimated to be worth $100,000, has been found near Little Rock, Ark. It was one of a total of 20 stones of diamonds found in 1890 near a creek.

Great Woman's Memory Faulty. Captain Berwick, the discoverer of the South Pole, and the accomplished leader of his expedition, who was never really remembered the expedition, and always had a copy of it about with him.

Residents of Ellenville and Ulster county, recalling the family of the late Captain Daniel D. Ellinger and Mary Broadhead Ellinger, will regret to learn of the death in New York on Monday, November 28, of Katherine Broadhead Ellinger, their daughter. Miss Ellinger was the niece of the late Judge Henry Broadhead and of Miss Kate Broadhead, now of Ellenville. She was born in Ellenville and went with her father and mother to Brooklyn in early childhood and attended Parker Collegiate Institute. She graduated from Teachers' College, Columbia University, where she specialized in kindergarten work. For the past eighteen years she has been prominent in that branch of instruction in the public schools of New York. Her devotion to her pupils, her ability as a teacher and her gentle, kindly nature endeared her to the principals and teachers and a large circle of friends. She had been under treatment by specialists at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, for some time, and her enforced absence from school and social

The chemists have also found that when the concentrated Vitamins from yeast are mixed with a tiny dose of Phosphorus A and Glycophosphates, that results are quicker. ### Horseshoes Long in Use.

It is impossible to state definitely when horseshoes were first used. A coin in the British museum, from Tarcentum, made about 300 B. C., is supposed to represent a horse being shod. It is not likely, however, that shoeing with iron was at all common in the early part of the Middle Ages. William the Conqueror is believed to have introduced the art into Britain. For centuries the art of the shoemaker ranked with that of the scholar and bard in England and France, and even kings practiced the art.

BEAUVAIS TURNS "MEDICINE MAN"

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Montreal, Dec. 2.—Fred Beauvais, Indian guide named as co-respondent in the Stillman divorce case, today had turned "medicine man." He obtained a provisional charter for a medicine company capitalized at $50,000. The medicine will be compiled by Chief Two Axes, medicine man of the Iroquois tribe, according to a formula said to have been known and carefully guarded by successive medicine men of the tribe for generations.

"The Indian of today has caught the commercial spirit of the age," said Beauvais today.

John F. Brennan and John D. Mack, respectively lawyers for Mrs. Stillman and guardian for Baby Guy Stillman, have not reached Montreal. They will go to Piles, Que., to question witnesses on behalf of Mrs. Stillman.

Three Indians and seven farmers will be questioned. The evidence probably will be taken here, but the opinion has been expressed that it will not be completed until January 1.

Ulster Seizes Defiant Court.

MALONE DENIES STEVENS REPORT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 2.—Reports that Dudley Field Malone, former collector of the port of New York, whose first wife recently obtained a divorce in Paris, is to wed Miss Doris Stevens, former chieftain of militant suffragists, could not be verified today.

"You had better see Mr. Malone about that," said Miss Stevens when questioned.

"Please deny it flatly," said Malone at his hotel. "There is nothing to it and if I was going to marry Miss Stevens, I would not disclose the fact over the telephone."

Mr. Malone was the Former-Labor candidate for governor of New York in 1920.

Miss Stevens, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., is regarded as one of the most beautiful women in the United States.

MORSE CONCERN IN BANKRUPTCY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New Haven, Conn., Dec. 2.—With some 1,500 or more creditors for sums ranging from a few dollars into the millions, awaiting their money, the creditors being scattered all over the eastern half of the United States, steps will be taken in the bankruptcy court soon by Receiver James Swan, president of the Groton Iron Works, the C. W. Morse shipbuilding concern for the appointment of a trustee who will have charge of the settlement of the affairs of the bankrupt concern.

Whether the $13,000,000 suit of the Groton Iron Works against the United States Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, growing out of refusal of the Shipping Board to settle claims of the company on war contracts, will be pressed, depends upon the decision of the referee in bankruptcy, Thomas M. Shields of Norwich, before whom the affairs of the defunct concern will be adjudicated.

MANY THREATS AGAINST "FATTY" AND COUNSEL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Counsel and friends of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle were not inclined today to regard seriously a threat contained in a letter received by Milton Cohen, the fat comedian's personal attorney, made public yesterday.

Cohen said it was one of hundreds received during the trial.

MAY STOP WORK ON PACIFIC FORTS

U. S. Believed Ready to Go This Far When Japan Accepts Hughes Naval Ratio.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 2.—The United States probably will agree to abandon plans for further fortification of Guam, should such a concession be necessary to the success of the conference, it was learned on high authority today. This fact was elicited following statements in Japanese official circles that Japan's experts now are considering the advisability of asking for limitation of Pacific fortifications to compensate for her acceptance of the 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships.

Such an agreement on limitation of fortifications might even be extended to include other actual or prospective American bases in the Pacific, notably the Philippines and Hawaii, it was stated. It is extremely unlikely, however, that the American delegation would consent to any reduction of existing fortifications at these places, inasmuch as American technical experts are agreed the defenses of American possessions are inadequate unless some such plan as that proposed by Mr. Hughes is adopted, and could not be regarded as excessive even with that plan in operation.

For years, the question of the fortification of Guam has been a live one with army and navy experts, and the general board of the navy has worked out comprehensive plans for the development of a base on the island, with adequate fortifications.

Opposition has invariably developed, however, and though some work has been done at Guam, each succeeding naval appropriation bill has seen the Guam appropriation practically eliminated.

PACKING HOUSE MEN TO STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Forty-five thousand packing house employees have been instructed by officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, to go on strike at 6 o'clock next Monday morning. Orders for the strike are enroute today to branches of the union in all packing centers. It is estimated that 20,000 men will go on strike in Chicago if the strike call is obeyed. Other cities affected by the strike are St. Paul, Milwaukee, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Wichita, Oklahoma City, East St. Louis, Fort Worth, Dubuque, Cedar Rapids, and Austin, Minn.

The strike is in protest against recent reductions in wages announced by the packers and agreed to by many employees under the "shop representation" plan. The unions have refused to participate in this plan.

IF HEADACHE IS DUE TO DEBILITY

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Restores the Blood to Natural Vigor.

Many people who suffer from headaches never find the real cause. They do not know that a condition of debility, with blood thin and watery, is likely to cause ailments of any kind. Headaches are frequently brought on by a weakened condition. The body is more sensitive to pain and until the blood is healthy it is almost impossible to establish a cure for headaches. It is of the utmost importance to build up the blood first. People subject to headaches are usually in a more or less run down condition.

A course in Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken in either liquid or tablet form, builds the blood, restores it to its natural normal state, full of red corpuscles, the little cells which make blood red in color. Thousands of people are finding that headaches are due to nothing but a weakened condition caused by impure blood clogged with poisons. Buy Gude's Pepto-Mangan of your druggist. He has it in liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

It is understood that Morse is wanted to testify before an American grand jury relative to financial relations which he had with the United States Shipping Board during the war.

Mr. Morse in an exclusive statement to the International News Service denied any wrong doing.

"I know absolutely nothing about the cause of my arrest," said he. "It is preposterous if any charges have been made against me. I came to France for a vacation. My health has not been good."

Morse's name on the liner's passenger list was written Charles W. Morris. He did not explain why he had sailed incognito.

As soon as the Paris docked, five French policemen accompanied by the American consul went on board. They said that the instructions to arrest Morse had been received from the American embassy in Paris.

Real Rest Depends Largely Upon the Depth of Your Sleep

A warning to "light" or "poor" sleepers

The deeper and sounder you sleep the better you feel. Five hours sound refreshing sleep does you more actual good than ten hours restless, disturbed sleep.

This is because the final conversion of food into vital tissue and nerve cells goes on more rapidly when the physical and mental forces are at rest.

You can't get sound, refreshing sleep if your nerves are agitated with tea or coffee. Both these drinks contain caffeine, which is sometimes very irritating to the brain and nervous system.

If you want to know the joy, vigor and stamina that comes to the person who gets sound, healthful sleep, why not stop taking tea or coffee for a while, and drink delicious, invigorating Postum instead.

Thousands of people everywhere have found that this was the only thing they needed in order to bring about these very happy results.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this delicious cereal beverage of coffee-like flavor, for a week. Perhaps, like thousands of others, you'll never be willing to go back to tea or coffee.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in package) of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink with the milk it being prepared made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Postum for Health
"There's a Reason"

Mrs. Clyde Cascardi and children.

Judge Royal Graham

A storm of comment arose in all classes of society throughout the country over the recommendation in the County Court, Ulster, before Judge Royal M. Graham in the case of Mrs. Clyde Cascardi, mother of five children and wife of a well employed. The proposal was that Mrs. Cascardi surrender her present children or submit to an operation making her incapable of future motherhood. Judge Graham denied he had heard a rumor to that effect in the court or understood him. Mrs. Cascardi was called to court by welfare workers to show cause why her children should not be taken from her because of their undernourished condition and the chronic unsanitary condition of their home environment. On May 25, 1921, a witness, succeeded the sterilizing operation, and Mrs. Cascardi was given until January 15 to decide what she will do.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THANKSGIVING DAY.

It was a holiday and it was Thanksgiving Day. From the moment Melly got up she felt in a "holiday" spirit she said. And everything and everyone seemed to feel the same way too.

First she went in quite early in the morning to see her mother who was sitting up in bed, waiting for her little visitor.

Her mother was wearing a dear little blue jacket and a blue cap and was looking so pretty.

She had a nice little chat with her mother and then she went back into her own room to get dressed.

Yes, everyone in the house seemed to act and feel as though the day was a holiday as it most certainly was.

And oh, such a Thanksgiving dinner as they had.

First they had corn soup and then they had turkey and many vegetables and then they had apple and celer salad. Next they had two pies to choose from, or to take a piece from each, and they had ice cream too, and every kind of a nut and piece of fruit was in the fruit dish.

In the center of the table was a little bit of a pumpkin. It was a real pumpkin but it was very, very small.

On top of the pumpkin Melly's mother had put some tiny carrots and baby potatoes and some little snowberries from the snowberry bush.

They did make the table look so gay and pretty and the pumpkin with its little vegetables decorating it was quite the finest table decoration Melly had ever seen.

Then in front of their places were little make-believe turkeys carrying under their wings the names of the people at the table and where they were to sit.

"Well," said Melly, "the make-believe turkeys are certainly never wanderers. They couldn't walk off anywhere! All they could do would be to wiggle their heads!"

For the real turkeys, as you know, are hard to take care of because they do wander off so. They're the greatest wanderers of any of the barnyard animals. And sometimes they are off for days and days at a time.

At Thanksgiving time they stay around a great deal more because at that time they're all fed up for the great day and they don't care to go off and hunt for food when they get such a tremendous amount at home.

Even if they are well fed at other times they wander off. It is only when they get an extraordinary amount to eat that they stay about.

After dinner Melly and her family played the good old game of "stage-coach." You know the game?

Everyone of the different people in the room who are playing the game take the names of the people supposed to be in the stage-coach such as the driver, the right-hand horse and the left-hand horse, the little boy traveler and his mother and so on.

Every time the word stage-coach is mentioned each person playing the game must get up and turn around and the last person who sits down when done this goes on with the story telling.

Of course the one who is telling the story must tell all of the trip this imaginary stage-coach took.

And of course the names of all the characters must be mentioned often for every time a character is mentioned that one who is taking the place of the character must get up and turn around.

So Melly and her family played this in the afternoon.

And when it became dark they lighted the lights and the fire was poked up so that it blazed most beautifully.

They had their supper in front of the fire and though everyone had said they couldn't possibly eat another thing after such a dinner, they all managed to eat something.

And when Melly went to bed that night she said: "I believe in Thanksgiving Day! And what a home I have to be thankful for. I'm sure that there may be glad of a day in which to give thanks, but I am sure that no one is so glad of having a day to give thanks in as I am. For I have so much to be so thankful for. Now, I'm sure, than anybody else has."

Teacher Like Leachman.
"The one who teaches," Elizabeth answered, "She brings things down to us that you never can before."
"That," replied her brother, "our bandman does that too."

WHEN YOU'VE GOT A DATE FOR DINNER AT A FRIEND'S HOUSE IN THE COUNTRY AND YOU DOZE AWAY GOING OUT—

AND SUDDENLY WAKE UP THINKING ITS THEIR STATION—

ONLY TO FIND YOUR TEN MILES AWAY AND NO MORE TRAINS FOR AN HOUR—

AND THEN FIND DINNER WILL BE AN HOUR LATER BECAUSE THE COOK MISSED HER TRAIN— ITS THE INJUSTICE OF THINGS THAT HURTS—

HAVE A CUP OF TEA?

A well-made cup of tea is refreshing and delightful, but a poor one is worse than a dose of bad medicine. The making of tea is a very simple process. Pot should be hot, water boiling and tea measured, then when the three come together let them stand just long enough to draw out the flavor of the tea. Tea that is boiled makes a beverage astringent and unwholesome.

Without doubt the quality of the water used in tea-making has much to do with the quality of the tea.

In some English homes they go quite a distance to get certain spring water which is so desirable for tea. These spring waters add to the tonic value of the tea.

With a sweet, clean pot rinsed in boiling water before the tea is added, using a teaspoonful of tea to a cupful of boiling water, let it steep or draw three to five minutes and the result is an excellent cup of tea. Make tea fresh. Do not serve it after standing half an hour.

The Russian tea, as we know it, is served with a slice of lemon, but as a matter of fact, their national drink is served with a spoonful of jam dropped right into the cup.

Wild thyme and verbena are used in some countries and in Persia they like their tea very sweet with the juice of the lime especially prepared for it. In parts of India garlic is used in tea; a combination which would not appeal to an American.

We are a peculiar people in regard to the use of cream in tea, as it is said that in no country is it used as generally. Cream, in tea makes the cup of tea as much better than milk as does cream in a cup of coffee.

There are many accessories with tea which we have acquired from time to time—the slices of lemon with a few cloves; cubes of sugar used to grate over an orange to absorb the essential oil is liked and popular; preserved pineapple or small slices of the fresh fruit are both enjoyed.

IS GREATEST OF YANK WAR HEROES

Sergeant Woodfill Placed Ahead of Alvin York by Pershing.

SORRY HE COULDN'T DO MORE

He Attacked Almost Single-Handed Battalion of German Machine Gun Men, Killed the Crews, Using an Intrenching Pick to Stay the Last of Them—Honored by Congress, France and Montenegro—After Armistice He Re-enters Army as Enlisted Man.

Sergeant Samuel Woodfill, United States Army, is declared by General Pershing to be the greatest of the American heroes of the World war.

The sergeant's home is at Belleview, Ind., where his brother and sisters still live.

Woodfill was a lieutenant and captain, but such are the fortunes of war that he is back again in the ranks.

Sergeant Woodfill has been in the army twenty years. He was a non-commissioned officer when the United States entered the World war. After the armistice he re-entered the regular army as an enlisted man.

He had attacked almost single-handed a series of German machine gun nests, had killed the crews, killing the last of them with an intrenching pick.

When interviewed by newspaper men he said of his deeds: "My only regret is that I could not have done more."

Pershing Doesn't Share Regret.

This regret was not shared by the commanding general of the army. General Pershing placed this man ahead of Sergt. Alvin York, who stood off and captured 132 Germans.

The statement by General Pershing was based on the citation, as a result of which Woodfill, then a lieutenant, received a commission (temporary) as captain, the croix de guerre with palm, was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor, and received from Montenegro the Order of Prince Danilo (fifth class).

It was Woodfill's citation: "For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy at Camel, France, October 12, 1918. While he was leading his company against the enemy his line came under heavy machine gun fire, which threatened to hold up the advance."

"Followed by two soldiers at 25 yards this officer went out ahead of his first line toward a machine gun nest and worked his way around its flank, leaving two soldiers in front."

"When he got within ten yards of the gun it ceased firing, and four of the enemy appeared, three of whom were shot by Lieutenant Woodfill."

Fights German Officer.

"The fourth officer rushed at Lieutenant Woodfill, who attempted to club the officer with his rifle. After a hand-to-hand struggle Lieutenant Woodfill killed the officer with his pistol. His company thereupon continued to advance until shortly afterwards another machine gun nest was encountered."

"Calling on his men to follow, Lieutenant Woodfill rushed ahead of his line in the face of heavy fire from the nest."

"A few minutes later this officer for the third time demonstrated conspicuous gallantry by charging another machine gun position, killing five men in one machine gun pit with his rifle. He then drew his revolver and started to jump into the pit when two other gunners only a few yards away turned their gun on him."

"Failing to kill them with his revolver, he grabbed a pick lying near by and killed both of them. Inspired by the exceptional courage displayed by this officer, his men pressed on to their objective under severe shell and machine gun fire."

TRANSMITS RELAPSING FEVER

Human Tick Proven Responsible by Three Men in Texas.

By human experimentation, the human tick has been proven to be the transmitting agent of relapsing fever in Panama, according to information received in Washington.

Three human volunteers risked their lives by being infected with the fever after tests on white rats and monkeys had indicated that the ticks carried the relapsing fever spirochetes from one animal to another.

In the experiments conducted by Lewis R. Bates, Lawrence H. Davis, and Joe H. St. John of the board of health laboratory and Ancon hospital, in the Canal zone, one volunteer had injected beneath his skin some blood from a rat infected with relapsing fever. Into another of the patients was injected hypodermically a suspension of naturally infected ticks, while the other volunteer submitted to being bitten by naturally infected ticks. All of these men fell ill with the fever and, with the evidence provided by animal experimentation, this is considered conclusive proof that the human tick is the carrier of the germ of relapsing fever.

Relapsing fever has been known since as far back as the time of Hippocrates. It is a disease of the blood, and is often accompanied by chills and fever. It is a dangerous disease, but it is curable, and it is not fatal, and thus deserves its name.

No Doubt

No doubt Adam had his troubles when Eve came into his life, but one thing is certain—the never happened to him, that Mrs. Adams had a far easier time and the only one who she couldn't have one, too.

NEGLECTED FARM PAYS $5,000 YEAR

Blueberry Bushes Provide Profitable Crop in Maine.

MOST OF SUPPLY IS GAINED

140,000 Acres Devoted to Production and 14 Canneries Pack It—Farmer Gives Up in Disgust When Fire Sweeps His Farm, Two Years Later He Returns to Find the Place Covered With Blueberry Bushes, Now He Takes It Easy and Makes $5,000 a Year.

Bangor.—Five years ago a man trying to get a living out of a rocky farm in Washington county set fire to some brush. The fire got away and swept over the entire place—fields, wood lot and all. The farmer gave up in disgust, getting a job in the woods. After two years in the Northern logging camps at good wages the farmer returned to the old place to find it wild. The entire burned area was covered with little stunted bushes. But they were blueberry bushes, and ever since then the discouraged farmer has been getting an average of $5,000 a year in "stumpage"—permits to pick blueberries on his land. This occupies his attention from the middle of August to frost time. After that he can go fishing.

"I never knew what a good old farm that was until I burned it up," says the baron of the barrens.

Best Paying Crop.

With even a fair season there is more money in blueberries than in any other crop in eastern Maine. The advantage of the blueberry farm over others is that it doesn't have to be farmed. On 140,000 acres in eastern Penobscot Hancock and Washington counties the little bushes grow sturdily and rapidly on lands that have been burned or lumbered over; no fertilizer is required, there is no ploughing to do—just an occasional weeding out of other growths so the berry bushes may not be choked. All the blueberry asks is half a chance. Many a man who failed miserably at raising potatoes or other crops has become rich at blueberry farming—as riches go down East.

In the old days blueberry picking was a casual industry or enjoyment indulged in by the natives who wanted some berries to "put down" for the winter or to make pies in summer and maybe to sell a few in Bangor market, where a box containing six quarts was worth about twenty-five cents. People journeyed from distant parts of Maine in long caravans of covered wagons, whole families going along, much as the old-time Methodists used to journey to Northport camp meeting. In those free and easy days anybody could go anywhere and pick all the berries he liked without charge.

14 Canneries Pack Supply.

Now it is all different. The lands in both incorporated towns and unorganized townships, are privately owned, and pickers must pay stumpage, which usually is two cents a quart, sometimes running as high as four cents, according to how "thick" the berries are. At two cents a quart a family of four persons can earn $20 to $30 a day. Strictly speaking, blueberries are not "picked," but rather scooped from the bushes with short rakes similar to those used in cranberry harvesting. The rakes take leaves and twigs along with the berries. Thus a winnowing process in the field and another at the factory are needed to eliminate the refuse, and even after that flocks of nimble fingered girls pick the berries over, so that no green ones or any foreign substances may get into the cans.

There are fourteen large blueberry canneries in Maine. Most of the packing concerns own extensive tracts of blueberry land.

Of the blueberry area 100,000 acres are in Penobscot county, 800,000 in Hancock county and 600,000 in Washington county. The canneries buy berries in the open market or sell permits to harvest on their own lands with the proviso that all the berries gathered shall be sold to their canneries. There never is any lack of supplies when the field is normal. This year there were few blueberries, a late June frost having killed the young berries before they "set." But five years in ten or fifteen the yield is plentiful, and then the canneries, operating at full capacity, turn out about 140,000 cases of twenty-four cans each, or 3,360,000 cans. In 1919 the price was up to $5 a case, but in 1920 there was a decline to $3, and this year's price would have been lower still had not the crop failed. In addition to an average of 140,000 cases raised, selling for $300,000 to $350,000, it is estimated that about $200,000 is realized from the sale of berries in the fresh state. The canning process is simple enough, but great care is exercised to insure perfect condition.

Remarkable Chickens

"My sister-in-law," says an Alberta reader of the Montreal Family Herald and Weekly Star, "possesses a fowl that has a bill like a chicken, a body like a duck, feathers like a chicken and walked feet like a duck, walks like a duck, but can't swim. I have a chicken with all its feathers turned inside out, mouth wide open to body, and turned outward, with feathers decidedly so; the bills very odd."

Man With Backbone Wire.

The man who has no backbone is the walking in business, shifted and shifted about by everyone with whom he comes in contact. But the man who has backbone is not tied up—he is the one whose aggressive power has no equal and who has the respect—exchange.

Sins of diet often result in pimples and boils

A familiar fresh food corrects their basic cause

THE causes of pimples and blackheads (acne) are always found in lowered vitality, very commonly associated with constipation and digestive disorders," says one skin specialist, and he further says that "the repeated occurrence of boils should always be looked upon as an indication of lowered vitality."

Scientists now know that the real cause of the trouble may be some "sin of diet."

It is now generally acknowledged that the lack of one food factor called vitamin is largely responsible for the lowered vitality that so often brings skin disorders and blemishes.

Something to correct the basic cause of these complaints is clearly needed. Scientists have discovered it in the familiar little cake of Fleischmann's Yeast, for yeast is the richest known source of the food factor essential to perfect digestion.

Physicians and hospitals are therefore prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast as an addition to the diet. It yields remarkable results in the treatment of boils and acne so often due to sins of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a highly digestible fresh food. Have it on the table at home and on your desk at the office. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor, and the clean wholesome taste it leaves in your mouth. Eat from 2 to 3 cakes a day just plain or on crackers or bread. Within two weeks you should notice an improvement. Obsolete cases may require two or three weeks longer. If troubled with gas, dissolve the yeast first in half a cup of very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. Get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

Send 4c in stamps for the booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York City.

FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST IS A FOOD NOT A MEDICINE

Avoid the use of so-called yeast preparations. Many of these contain only a small amount of yeast—no more than one-tenth of a yeast cake—mixed with drugs or medicines. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which you can get Fleischmann's Yeast for Health. Be sure it's Fleischmann's fresh yeast. Do not be misled by yeast-substitutes.

NEW CHEMICAL TEST SHOWS WATER IN MILK

Minnesota Chemist Discovers Method by Which Greater Accuracy is Assured.

A new chemical test that will tell with great accuracy the amount of water that has been added to milk has been perfected and recommended as a standard test for food chemists of health departments and other agencies. Julius Horveth, of St. Paul, Minn., announced in Washington at the annual meeting of the American Association of Official Agricultural Chemists.

By utilizing the fact that the addition of water to milk raises its freezing point, the chemist will be able to detect additions as low as three per cent.

"Certain types of milk may contain as high as 20 per cent. or even more actual added water without yielding positive indications of adulteration by means of any heretofore applied method of examination," Mr. Horveth said in explaining the new cryoscopic test.

During the past year, collaborators in all parts of the country have been making tests on milk from different breeds of cows to determine the utility of the freezing point method. The thermometers used have to be extremely accurate as 10 per cent water in the milk changes the freezing point only fifteen hundredths of a degree. The thermometers are standardized by determining their reading when placed in freezing distilled water or solutions of very pure sugar.

IS OLDER THAN GRANDAUNT

Oddities in Relationship in Pennsylvania Family.

George W. Weaver, Center county, Pa., enjoys the distinction of having a great-grandchild who is older than his youngest daughter, and Weaver himself is only sixty-eight years of age. He has been married twice and is the father of eighteen children, thirteen of whom are living.

His oldest granddaughter married Edward Askey of Liberty township. Their oldest son is thirteen years old and older than Mr. Weaver's youngest daughter by his second marriage, who is pregnant to the lad who was born before her.

Weaver is regarded as the Daniel Boone of Curtis township, as he has probably killed more deer and bear during his life than any other resident. Every season he spends some time in the woods after deer.

AGED WOMAN MUSICIAN

Plays Piano and Takes a Great Interest in Passing Events.

Mrs. Mary E. Babcock, celebrated the ninety-fifth anniversary of her birth the other day at her home in the Norwood House, at Everett, Mass.

Many friends called with gifts and congratulated her. Mrs. Babcock recently was the guest of honor at a party attended by a dozen relatives and friends. The table was adorned by two huge cakes, which were cut by Mrs. Babcock and distributed among those present.

Mrs. Babcock takes a keen interest in current affairs. She reads the daily papers and magazines a good part of the day, and reads and news without glasses. She also plays the piano and sings.

Modern Robinson Crusoe.

From San Francisco comes a thrilling tale of an escape from a burning ship in mid-Pacific. The ship Marama, brought in 28 members of the crew of the Italian bark Monte Bianco. When the men left the burning ship in a life-boat they were 400 miles from land. After rowing for days and passing through a school of sharks, they finally reached an uninhabited island, where they subsisted for 54 days on berries, fish and game. An inter-island steamer finally took them to Papeete.

A. D. Wins.

Austin Delp, one of the boys in the Masonic home at Franklin, recently got into a "turbulent" argument with some of the other boys. When Miss Jones, the matron, asked the cause of the trouble, young Delp said he was smarter than any of the other boys because he had his initials on the building. The inscription on the home is "A. D. 1913"—Indianapolis News.

Recovery Only Temporary.

Paralyzed for months as a result of spinal meningitis, an Indiana boy, was shocked into activity when thrown from a motor car. He ran to a farmhouse after climbing a steep embankment to summon help. Other members of the party escaped with slight injuries. When the excitement subsided, the boy suffered a relapse and is again unable to walk.

Plant Took Year of Rest.

A St. Joseph, Mo., grower has a large tomato plant in his garden that is two years old. The plant bore no fruit last year so was kept over until spring and the fruit which is now this year was exceptionally large and excellent.

First Current Ship Sold as Junk.

The steamship Faith, the first passenger vessel built in the United States, has been sold as junk for $3,700 to verify the crew's story claim of $20,000. The last cargo was 21,000 tons of bones.

Unto the End.

"How's this?" asked the lawyer. "You've named six bankers in your will to be pallbearers. Of course, it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?" "No, Judge, there's all right. These fellows have served me for so long they might as well finish the job."—The American Legion Weekly.

Big Sister's Command.

Margaret, though warmly older, was almost constantly at the side of her brother, William, ready to impart her knowledge of this great world for his special benefit. When on her left for downtown shopping and gave baby the usual lecture, he would much rather listen to all the comments and chatter, come to the rescue with "Wag your head, William."
